MARKINGS

Rev. Mark Belletini, Senior Minister

On my way back soon. Was in San Francisco, where the economy has changed a lot since I lived here. Do not imagine buying a house here unless you have one and a half million in your pocket. Do not imagine walking down the street without encountering even more folks begging for money, folks utterly abandoned by the social order. It's a beautiful city that is very painful to be in, for the most part because of the gap between the affluent and the destitute, which is far more apparent here than it is in Columbus, although God knows it's visible in our good city, too.

My time has been rich. Of course, I didn't accomplish everything I'd hoped. The book chapters I have written have to go through an editorial process, which is moving at a different pace than my own timing. I knew that to be true before I left, but still, I have a lot to do in the coming months.

Seder, Communion and Easter on their way, and I have been away, so planning is a little late. Eric and I are working on that, but I hope some of you can pitch in. The Communion Celebration of our Socinian ancestors in Eastern Europe will be on Thursday the 28th before Chalice Choir rehearsal, 6:30 sharp. No need to make reservations, but you do need to make reservations for the Seder, the next night, Friday, also at 6:30 sharp. (Dinner closer to 7:30, since ceremony precedes supper.) PLEASE SIGN UP WITH MARIAN, 267-4946 Ext. 21 BEFORE WEDNESDAY THE 27TH so we know how much to shop for.Carolynn Aurnou will be coordinating the meal. If you are willing to help her and Alison Katz prepare the meal, please let us know soon.

My meeting with senior colleagues in Santa Barbara, as usual, sparked a lot within me. All of our congregations are facing differences in culture regarding time, money, organization, etc. in similar ways, untied to geography or even local congregational history. More on this in the months to come, although I want to share a lot of my learnings with our excellent Board first. I will be bringing up a portion of this on this coming Sunday. Which is ...get ready for it...THE DAY LIGHT SAVING CHANGE! Yes, we lose an hour of sleep. (At my age, I lose hours of sleep every night, so it's not a shock for me, but still....remember to mark this down next Saturday.) It is my first Sunday back for six weeks and I'd like to see you there...

See you soon....

CHURCH NEWS

Invitation to a Wellspring Information Session

Have you heard about Wellspring? Over the past three years, nearly 40 First UU members and friends have participated in this amazing journey. Wellspring offers spiritual deepening within our UU tradition, an opportunity for learning more about ourselves and our faith through a year-long small group experience. There are five components: commitment to a daily spiritual practice, monthly spiritual direction (self-reflection with a guide), small group meetings, reading about the theological and historical foundations of our faith, and putting our faith into action. After a day-long retreat on September 14, we will meet two or three times a month through June, 2014. We invite you to an information session to help you decide whether Wellspring is a commitment you want to make, on Sunday, April 14, 1:00-2:00pm. Bring your lunch, your questions and your open hearts. Contact Ohma Willette at 614-794-3229 or ohmawi@gmail.com

Rev. Eric Meter, Associate Minister

Are you ready for Spring? All right, you don't need to answer that. Though I do hope you are noticing the activity in store here at First UU in the coming weeks.

In his column, Rev Mark mentions the Socinian Communion on March 28 and our Passover Seder on the 29th. A week before then, on Friday the 22nd, the youth involved with the Heritage trip to Transylvania will host a Hungarian Feast (details elsewhere in this issue).

For anyone unclear about either the where or the why of the trip, let me explain. In short, there have been Unitarians in the region of Eastern Europe called Transylvania for over 450 years. These are primarily ethnic Hungarians, as Transylvania was Hungary's bread basket until the aftermath of WWI, when the region was awarded to the Romanian nation. In Romania, the Unitarians became an oppressed minority, and during Romania's time behind the Iron Curtain during the Cold War and later, they were effectively cut off from Unitarians anywhere else in the world. When Nicolae Ceausescu's regime came to an end at the end of 1989, contact became possible again and in time partner church bonds were being forged between, as I like to put it, theological cousins who share the same last name here in the States and in there in Transylvania.

I wrote a month ago about some of the things our pilgrims will see and do while we are there in June. And I do not use the word pilgrim lightly. It is just that as I think ahead to the depth of history we will encounter and what it mean for our youth to meet and work alongside the youth of Bölön (Belen, the Romanian name, if you are trying to find the village on Google Earth) the word tourist is simply not good enough.

So come to our Hungarian Feast on March 22. To register, either call me at 614/267-4946 x 23 or go to <http://www.peng2.org/hungariandinner/content/hungarian-dinner-reservation-form> by March 15.

in peace,

FROM THE BOARD CHAIR

Beth Jewell

At the Art of Developing Meaningful Conversations Workshop on January 26, we shared how we would answer several questions. This first was, "What do we as individuals each need from the church?" Answers that came out of the workshop: Acceptance. Community. Room to grow and change. A community in which to do the work of social justice. A covenant that guides and holds us. Inspiration for the diverse family.

I offer my experience of how First UU met these needs on a recent Sunday morning. My six-year-old son and I arrive at 9:00. We walk in the door from the parking lot the church shares with Panera and Chipotle, and I am reminded of what the 2001: A Space Odyssey Capital Campaign brought to us—a presence on High Street in the heart of Clintonville. We pass classrooms, where teachers are setting up for 9:15 Sunday school. We are welcomed into First Grade OWL by one of Ray's three trained, dedicated teachers. One of Ray's classmates is especially excited: she'll be singing in a few minutes! Another arrives with his mom and sister; she reminds her children that breakfast is available before class starts and they head happily to the kitchen. I walk to the Worship Center. On the way, I am greeted with a smile by Ben Blee and Barb Pratzner at the Greeter's stand, and then by usher Kevin Fish, who says "good to see you!" as he hands me an Order of Service. On behalf of the Board of Trustees, I welcome the congregants, sit down, and am treated to Booker T, sung by Ray's classmate along with other Peace Pals, our children's choir. During the service, we honor our 115 Religious Education volunteers, who together participate in the education of our 274 children and youth enrolled in RE classes for 2012-13. We hear that Shane Roussi, a young man I have known since he attended the 2's class at SYC with my now 18-year-old son, will be a morning guest on Sunny 95 radio; we hear of birthdays, memorial services, and upcoming surgeries. We learn that Dick Dawson, our Chaplain, will be available after the service if we need a compassionate listener. Michael Greenman shares news of JAM's work with the national Move to Amend group: federal legislation has been introduced to eliminate Corporate Personhood and restore government to the people; and he talks of the local Care and Share Time Bank, where community is strengthened and all work is valued equally. He thanks the congregation for 26 new volunteers for our Fair Trade coffee project and for our work with Faith Mission.

We are called to silence and then to contemplation: moving from tolerance to acceptance to humility, to learn from and engage with those different from ourselves, to weave small truths gleaned from many lives into a larger tapestry of meaning for our own lives.

Book Bites will meet in Slowter Lounge 7 to 9 pm, Tuesday, March 19. New topic: Read a Book About a Culture Other Than Your Own. For information, contact Kathleen Boston, 262-4025.

—Rick Krizter, 781-1799, rick94037@yahoo.com.

Parents of Infants and Toddlers meets every second Saturday. The next meeting is on Saturday, March 9, from 11am to 1pm. Rooms 1&2. Contact Nancy Powlick for more information. lpowlick@columbus.rr.com.

Elevator speeches address the question, "What's Unitarian Universalism?" during a time as brief as an elevator ride. This one is by Ruby Linhan:

"Our church is a religious community that cares more about how we are together, in this lifetime, than we do about the existence of gods, goddesses, or what happens after we die. We encourage each other towards meaningful and just lives and seek to be more comfortable with questions than we are with answers. This is a faith that summons and strengthens our courage to richly and deeply LIVE."

THE INNER FLAME

from Rev Mark Belletini, Senior Minister

M'illumine d'immenso.

Giuseppe Ungaretti, 1960

It translates "The immensity of it all illumines me!" I used it in my service in Florida, and I have been reciting it like a prayer ever since, in Italian. Call it a koan, call it a moment of mindfulness, call it a meditation, call it what you will. It has served as a focus in the complexity of my life. I offer it to you in that same spirit.

JUSTICE ACTION MINISTRY (JAM)

As a founding member of BREAD (Building Responsibility, Equality, and Dignity, www.breadcolumbus.org), First UU has been instrumental in getting systemic change made in Central Ohio to keep more kids in school, reduce poverty, provide affordable housing, bring down payday loan interest rates from 391% to 28%, and increase access to primary health care. Recent wins include getting the Columbus City Council to allocate $1.1 million towards improving the local jobs outlook and the Juvenile Court to implement a Restorative Justice program for non-violent juvenile offenders. BREAD gets the attention and cooperation of City and County officials to make positive changes by turning out thousands of member congregations' members and friends to one huge meeting in May.

WE NEED YOUR HELP to provide at least 300 First UU representatives for BREAD's Nehemiah Action on Monday, May 6. Come to the Sunday, March 17, 1:00 pm, Justice Network Organizing Meeting in the Worship Center to learn what you can do to help with this important work. The commitment would be to attend two additional meetings and to bring three additional adults/children to the second on May 6.

Sharpening on Demand Back by popular demand! SYC Parent, Rebecca Lyon will be bringing her sharpening services to our parking lot and once again donating a percentage of her proceeds to support our Scholarship Fund. Bring in your blades on March 25, 27 or 28 10-3:15 and Sharpening on Demand will help you get an edge on spring!

Congratulations to long time School for Young Children teacher, Ann Rigney for being honored as the 2013 Ohio Teacher of the Year by the Ohio Association for the Education of Young Children.

She came to SYC as a parent with her two children and was hired as a teacher in 1973. Recently she became the inspiration for her daughter Heather Shumaker to write a parenting book about what she learned from her mother's decades of teaching in our program.

On Friday, April 26, 2013 the Ohio Association for the Education of Young Children, the Ohio Department of Education, Office of Early Learning and School Readiness and the Ohio Department of Jobs and Family Services will celebrate and honor Ann and the other 2013 Ohio AEYC award recipients selected to be recognized for their dedication to early care and education and for the impact their work has had on behalf of children, families and professionals from across Ohio.

Many of the SYC staff will be at this award dinner to cheer Ann on, and we will take pictures and gather memorabilia to give to the Archives Team to document this historic event.
