SOPHIA LYON FAHS

honors us with one of her rare local church visits for this first 1947 Church Night. Mrs. Fahs is retired from the faculty of Teacher's College, Columbia University, New York. She has long been the Director of the Junior Department of the Church School at Riverside Church, New York City. She is the acknowledged leader among progressive religious educators. Her work for us is as Editor of Children's Materials for the Beacon Press; she has given leadership in establishing the educational philosophy for Unitarian Church School, in creating the outstanding teaching materials for which we are becoming noted, and in writing several of the finest volumes herself. Mrs. Owsley, our Education Chairman, taught with Mrs. Fahs in the Riverside Church and shares her vision of what a modern Church School should be. Mrs. Fahs will speak briefly after supper to everyone and will then get down to shop-talk with Parent and Teachers from 7:30 until we adjourn at 9.

CHURCH NIGHT

will be a monthly feature of our life this year -- a social occasion with a serious purpose. Once each month we shall gather for a Dime Dinner, a brief address by some outstanding person, a continued discussion with the guest sponsored by one of our Program Committees, a fun program for the children, and adjournment promptly at 9. Watch for the announcement of the Nov. 11 program. Save the date!

DIME DINNER

a new name for one of our happier habits -- supper for fun and not for profit!

Bring something we'll all enjoy; the equivalent of the meal you'd otherwise be having at home -- a ham, a turkey, a bowl of Johnny Marzetti, a basin of slaw, an acre of biscuits, a pie, samples of all your jams and jellies -- whatever the spirit moves. We'll furnish coffee, tea, and milk. You pay a dime and everybody eats famously.

FOR THE YOUNGSTERS

who are too often neglected while the old folks do business.

A program or movies, games, charades, or whatever else may amuse during the hour and a half that the adults are in session. We'll start this time with movies.
